

https://www.midfloridanewspapers.com/highlands\_news-sun/inventorying-the-plants-of-carter-creek/article\_9429b058-46e6-11ec-a0c1-eb96d42ec888.html

Inventorying the plants of Carter Creek

By ARCHBOLD BIOLOGICAL STATION

Nov 17, 2021

Archbold Plant Ecology Program Research Assistant, Haley Dole, holds a recently mounted specimen of butterfly weed, tuberosa, collected from Carter Creek. This species is currently being studied due to unique plants that can only be found in Central Florida, thus, collections will be crucial for future taxonomic research.

SCOTT WARD PHOTO